National Baseball Commission Exonerates Owners of the New York and Philadelphia Clubs.

After this the local team fought hard but could never again get an opening. The tying point came after a rush behind the New York cage and a pass out to Bowler from Mowatt. The former was almost in the net when he played the rubber horn.

The New York men did not show a much vim in the second period, but the Victorias appeared to thrive on speed and never let up until the final whistle had blown. If Strange, White and Goodwill had not played a sterling game back to the defence, the score would have been

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
HANOVER, N. H., Friday.—That Dartmouth will not meet Carlisle on the gridiron next fall was officially announced to the athletic authorities yesterday. It was understood that Glenn Warner, coach of Carlisle, had a conference with a member of the Dartmouth Athletic Council in New York last week and that the Indians were willing to play either in New York or Springfield, Mass., but, either because Dartmouth did not want to take on an other hard game or because the faculty would not allow another out of town contest, the game will not be played.

UNITED STATES LEAGUE.

William A. Witman, president of the recently organized United States Baseball League, which hopes to have a club in this city, said yesterday that his league will apply to the National Commission for protection. When the National Commission rejects or ignores our application, we will proceed to organize our own league, not tamper with National agreement players, but if our request for recognition is turned down we will not respect the league rule. We will not declare war, but the other fellows want first to can get them, let them tamper with one of our players and the baseball world will be a lively war. However, if they respect our contracts we will respect theirs. We don't believe in contract breakers.

to make the league a lawful document, and should be respected, but if they fail to respect to contracts we will pay no attention to theirs."

It is believed in local baseball circles that if the new league actually comes into being it will be little more than a combination of some of the leading semi-professional clubs, which have been playing throughout the country for several years, with the addition of one available site for a ball park in Manhattan. This is Olympic Field, at 130th street and Fifth avenue. Sunday games have been played there for years. It is controlled by the Olympic Athletic Club, which has the Olympic and Empire boxing clubs, and "Charlie White, who is named as the leader of the club to represent New York. Is on friendly terms with them through his association as a promoter with another site which may be chosen to draw patronage from the fans beyond the Harlem River.

At present the league is composed of seven cities, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Richmond, Reading, Pa. The eighth city will be decided upon at the next meeting.

"Many schemes for the handling of soccer in the world," several have been suggested by patrons of the game all over the country, and to them the commission desires to return thanks.

"State and municipal legislation against the scalping of tickets to games of world-class or important champions games of a league is absolutely required for stamping out this reprehensible practice, and the commission urges owners of major league clubs to actively interest themselves in the introduction and passage of such laws.

"The Hon. J. B. F. Ishbourn is a member of the commission.

Next Tuesday afternoon there will be a doubles match at the New York Club between Standing and Edward Rodgers, and Williams and "Jack" Souter, the Philadelphia Racquet Club professional. Williams comes here at the invitation of the New York club, and after playing he will be seen in Philadelphia and possibly Tuxedo.

had signed the agreement and that the employees would not return to work the next day, their demand that the union be recognized having been granted. ### shoremanship — Steamship Piers Piled with Merchandise.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
BOSTON, Mass., Friday.—Boston's long shoremanship strike, which began last morning may spread to the freight terminal. It does 3,500 freight handlers will be called out, which will make the number of men on strike close to 7,000.

It was said to-night that the steamship men have sent to New York for strike breakers. Indications are that the strike not agree to anything which will mean granting of the ten cents an hour wage increase demanded.

With wharves piled high with merchandise and loaded steamships arriving, with no hands to unload the freight, and partly empty steamships sailing, the strike assumed a serious aspect to-night.
